

Kristen Levine

Host

Kristen Levine believes that companion animals are redefining the word “family” in America today and has been celebrating the loving bonds between pet parent and pet for nearly 20 years as a pet-lifestyle expert. Throughout those years, she’s had the privilege to work alongside thousands of animal professionals; from veterinarians to trainers to animal welfare workers—but she feels the most important educators have simply been Pet Lovers.

President and founder of Fetching Communications, Kristen is also a popular columnist for NBC Universal's Petside.com and the Tampa Tribune. Kristen’s topics includes pet health and wellness, American pet-culture, the pet industry's effects on global economy, and even the latest in pet toy trends. She has logged over 1000 live television and radio interviews, and besides hosting Pet Life TV, she’s appeared on Good Morning America, Fox News Channel, USA Today, Fox News.com, ABC News Radio, EFE America, AOL Latino and regular spots on WTVT, Fox 13 News in Tampa Bay, Florida.

Kristen is married and lives in Tampa, Florida, with her dog, cat, pair of miniature donkeys, and four goats.
